Steve,

Don't know if you remember me, I worked for Karen Mckormick in 2008, and then Perot. Eric Paisley suggested I touch base with you on this. I have a contact who is building energy efficient homes out of steel studs and foam. With the current disaster, he feels that he has a product that meets all of FEMA's requirements for home rebuild. He can also create a long lasting sustainable short term housing solution.

If you have anybody that he could possibly make contact with, or even if you'd like to speak with him, let me know.
